District 28.

Notes of a walk with Inspector King on January 9th 1899, continued from Book 13 M. p. 153. District 22. This portion comprising part of the parish of St Peter, Bayswater.

West from the corner of Assington Street are a few 4 storied shops in Bayswater Road (Wellington Terrace). Red as map.

N. up Clanricarde Gardens 5 st. + basement, porch with pillars, balcony above. Ground floor painted. Some of the houses are being converted into flats. Red to Yellow. Letter on map.

W along Notting Hill High Street. To Linden Gardens the shops are 3 storied & form a terrace, beyond that to Pembroke Road, they are irregular, some 2 storied cottages with shops built over gardens, others larger, new fronts. Frontage lines is irregular; in one place the footpath is 10ft wide a few yards further it is but 6ft. All appear to do good trade. Red as map.

N up Linden Gardens 5 & 4 st + basement. Bay windows. Few old 2 st. detached houses. Private road liveried gatekeeper. Yellow as map (Houses do not extend along the west side south of garden doors)

Gardens Mews - pink

On west side is Garden Mews 4 or 5 tenements over stables. Clean. Not marked on map. Pink.

S. of Garden Mews is Linden Mews. 4 tenements, looks like Garden Mews. Pink as map.

Pembroke Gardens. 4st + basement, detached houses. Stuccoed & painted fronts; some double fronted. Almost as good as Linden Garden. Red to Yellow. Red on map.

W to Pembroke Road. Shop. 3 floors, near main road. The west side, north of Kensington Park Road, small shops (2 floors). Pink barred as map.

W into Pembroke Square. Double fronted detached houses 4st + basement. Garden in front, massive iron railing.

Yellow as map.

N to Dawson Place. 2 & 3 st. double fronted detached houses, covered carriage footway to house entrances. Not so good as Pembroke Square. Red to Yellow. Yellow in map.

N up Pembroke Villas. Mixed class of houses. 3 & 4 floors. Gardens in front. W side better than east. Mews on east side is now Whitley's stables & covered yard.

Red as map.

S to Pembroke Place. 3 & 4 floors, 1/2 basement; detached double fronted houses. Yellow to Red. Yellow in map.

Chepstow Terrace Mews - purple

Chepstow Yard - purple

Chepstow Mansions - red

N. up Chepstow Place. West side, 3 floors & basement. gardens in front, East side 3 floors & basement; mostly lodgings houses. A few shops near Westbourne Grove.

Red as map

On West side is Chepstow Terrace Mews, reached by archway adjoining pub.. Cabs; rather crowded. Purple rather than pink of map.

N to Chepstow Yard. Now private yard of Livery stable keeper (Hopkins & Fox). Stablemen living over stables. LB or Purple. Pink on map.

At N.W. corner of Chepstow Place is a new block of flats with shops under, called Chepstow Mansions floors. Red.

General Remarks. This small portion of District 20. is a quiet distinct neighbourhood; roads wide and clean. It appears to have shared the general decline noticed in the adjoining part of District 22. Several of the houses in the better parts, Penbridge Square &c are empty.

District 23 GLA

Walk with Inspector H. King round district bounded on the north by Cornwall Road, west by Clarendon Road, south by Uxbridge Road & High Street, Notting Hill and east by Penbridge Road & Villas & Richmond and Shrewsbury Roads., being parts of the parishes of St Mark, St John, St Peter & All Saints in District 28 and parts of the parishes of St Lukes & St Stephen in District 23.

Started at corner of Westbourne Grove and Richmond Road and perambulated the streets in District 23. Mr Duckworth also went over these streets soon after and has reported them briefly in Book 13.J. p. 221. so that I only add a few notes here.

Richmond Road 3st & basement, few shops. No 50 a brothel, others suspected. Pink barred, instead of Red of map.

Northumberland Place 3st & basement. Better than Richmond Road. Red rather than pink barred as map.

Sutherland Place 3½. Lodging houses. pink barred instead of pink as map.

poor. Small place. Does not go through to Ledbury Road as marked on map. L.B. rather than part of map.

End of. District 23. part.

These streets are part of a neighbourhood that has been deteriorating for some time. The houses are about 50 years old and of the same type: grim, heavy looking but solidly built houses with bay windows and in the main streets with pillared porches & balconies, fronts stuccoed & painted to first floor; some attempt at ornament on cornices & ledges. They have probably reached their worst point and may be expected to improve as they are converted into flats, a process that is now going on and may be expected to become more rapid.

the house ^{door} opens. On the opposite of the square, the street door & the best rooms face the square & the inhabitant have to cross the public road to reach the gardens. As a result of this arrangement the street between ^{top} the squares is simply hideous. The houses have been re-drained and the ~~pipes~~ pipes are carried up outside, so that each street door is flanked by a forest of pipes of all sizes, gradually diminishing in number as the roof is reached. The windows are dirty and many of them glazed with ground glass. Some of the houses to are fitted for two families and have small brass plates, & marked 'Flat No 1' & 'Flat No 2' & giving the name of the respective occupant.

Mews. L13.

This walk completed the district north of Notting Hill High St & Uxbridge Road. The Kensington Park Road shut off the poorer district on the east from the well to do road on the west. It is little trouble to the police, their main difficulty being with area sneaks & the loafers passing from Ladbroke Grove to Notting Dale, the highway for this traffic being Elgin Crescent. Most of the Kensington drunks' are taken en route. They do not get drunk on the ground.

This completes this district north of Kensington High Street. As a whole it is well to do and even fashionable. The only poor patches are the streets behind Paddington Hill Gate Station, Lorne Gardens and some of the entries off Holland Street. But even in these cases the poverty is not acute like but is noticeable by the contrast with the wealthy surroundings.

Standing at the corner of one of the Squares, we passed a couple of men. "Cab runners," said King and added "These chaps give us more trouble than any other class". They wait for and follow cabs with luggage and he suggested that besides bullying ladies they were not above picking up unconsidered trifles as opportunity served. Indeed most of the police trouble ~~here~~ are due to the loafer class, which is attracted to Kensington by the hope of charity.

Disorderly Houses

There are very few brothels on SW Kings ground. Round South Kensington Station there are some but they are in the Chelsea Division. No steps are taken against them unless complaints are made by the neighbours & then they are cleared out. Inspector King however does not think it does much good: they only go elsewhere. They work together. Give references to each other. The man, who had the house at Garway Road was arrested at 6 Eastbourne Terrace, Paddington, and it transpired subsequently that one of the references he gave the landlord was to that address. The landlord is given a reference to a good address & he naturally accepts it.

A number of thieves get into the streets behind Notting Hill Gate Station; otherwise the district is pretty free from crime.

This walk was concluded in the midst of a driving sleet rain. The area includes one of the few poor poor spots in Kensington - that between Kensington Square and Stamford Road. The northern portion however is doomed to disappear. The few houses left in James St are condemned & on the ~~the~~ light patch north of Charles Street flats are now being built.

The better class streets are well looked after, swept and kept clean - in Victoria Road a gang of men were sweeping steadily during a shower of rain - but in the poorer street no attempt appears to be made to cleanse the streets. The roadway at the ^{west} end of St Albans Road - a cul de sac - is deep with mud.

The area covered in this walk is a well to do with two small patches of poverty - the Pembroke Place area & the small patch west of Warwick Road. The roads to the south, coloured Yellow on map, have deteriorated considerably and in many cases are below that standard. The change is attributed, I think rightly, to the numerous exhibitions held at Earls Court. These have brought numbers of undesirable characters to the neighbourhood at night - the good people have gone & the lodging house keepers come in their stead. Inspector King said that at one Exhibition he had to find room for 250 cabs. This he did by ranging them along both sides of Niven Square, the string extending into Warwick Road. The men used to make a good deal of noise but they had become stricter with them as the result of complaints. The tendency here is for flats to replace the older houses and a great part of the southern portion of the area has been rebuilt.

Notes of a walk with Inspector Stratton, of the "A" Division, in the area bounded by The River, Great College St., Dean's Yard, Prince's St., S. James' Park, Pall Mall, ~~xxxxxx~~ ~~xxxxxx~~ and Northumberland Avenue, forming parts of the Pall Mall East.
S. Martin's in the fields + S. Margaret's.

(E.A.) Feb. 7.99

The above area covers the whole of this Police Sub-division, and it is almost unique in character. Very few spots are coloured on the map, and, although a few have been omitted that might have been coloured, the district is mainly non-residential. Much of the property is given up to caretakers at night, and in this respect there is a resemblance to the City. But the differences are greater than the resemblances. As a residential n'hood it is sufficiently differentiated by the inclusion of the Royal Palaces, Carlton House ~~out~~, Terrace, and the Duke of Buccleuch's houses. The great difference is found ~~xxx~~ ^{however} ~~xxx~~ in the extraordinary collection of public buildings that have to be protected: the Sub-division has the charge of the centre of government of the Empire -- not only of the great Offices, but of the Houses of Parliament themselves, and the burial place of the great Dead is also in their keeping. It is little wonder, therefore, that Stratton emphasised the exceptional features of the work that they had to do: "we have a different class of work to any other; we have no ordinary police work; we have no roughs and hardly a poor person living in the sub-division; and we never have no rows here." My guide was an enthusiastic officer, proud of the Force, & genuinely interested in the area in his charge, In a year or two he will be entitled to a pension, having served his 24 years. He is still a comparatively young man, about 50 perhaps, and I was tempted to ask what this man, who has been stationed for the last 8 or 9 years at the hub of the Empire and is above the average in intelligence of the force just as he is below ~~in~~ it in build, would do when he secured his independence and his competency of some £2 per week, and I found that his desire was to get into the country; to have a small house and a garden; to keep poultry and so forth, and "perhaps even a donkey"!

We started from King St. which is awaiting speedy demolition, together with the whole of the buildings on the area lying between it and the Park, with the probable exception of the houses on the W. side of Delahay St and the beautiful building belonging to the Institute of Civil Engineers in Great George St. King St. itself will cease to exist, as also will also will Boar's Head Yard and Gardener's Lane, Charles St. on the other hand, which will divide the new from the existing blocks of Government Offices, will be widened, and made into a fine roadway. On the site for the future buildings, the demolitions ~~and priv.~~ of King St. houses are only just beginning, and a few houses, like the police station, are still occupied.

E. of King St. everything is down. The King St. Station will be removed to one of the buildings in Great Scotland Yard.

In Old Palace Yard Mr. Labouchere appears to be the only private resident, and in Abingdon St: further S. there are none. All the rooms are used as offices, mainly by solicitors and parliamentary agencies of various kinds. Turning W. down Gt. College St.

College Mews is on the right: a cul de sac; E. side are stables, but mostly backs from Abingdon St; only two or three people living here; no colour. The S. side of Great College St is in the Rochester Row Sub-division; on the N. there is little but property connected with the School. Two houses in the space W. of the Mews belong to Lord Portsmouth and to Canon Furse, and might be coloured yellow.

The rest red, as marked. N. by a narrow passage into Dean's Yard: on the S. side is the Church House, and the side is a mixture, in about equal quantities of offices of various kinds and of private houses. The W. side is made up in very much the same way, and it is misleading therefore to colour these two sides with unbroken yellow. ? yellow to yellow-barred. There are two new houses in the S.W. corner. The E. side and the N.E. corner are taken up with the houses of the Abbey clergy, but that part of the N. side which is filled by the buildings of the Sanctuary should be uncoloured. The house to the E. of this block is that of the Clerk to the Chapter. By the Cloisters to Little Dean's Yard: Ashburnham House here, with its W. end wall made up of ~~xx~~ stonework of the old Abbey. All the Yard used by the School or by those connected with it. By Broad Sanctuary, with the Westminster Hospital and the new Westminster Guildhall on the N. side, N. up Little George St: National Soc. Repository and the new buildings of the Surveyors' Institute on the W. side, the latter occupying the corner of Great George St. On the E. side, offices; the public-house the only occupied building.

M^r Labouchere's House: yellow

Great College St: hos in enclosure - yellow

Great George St: very much like Abingdon St. All offices; many engineers here, and architects. S.W. down

Princes Mews mainly consists of the backs of premises surrounding it; only two coachmen living here. No colour. N. to Delahay St- E. side coming down, and possibly W. side too.

All the latter, except two houses, used as offices; the Chapel marked on the map down, and site vacant. Gardener's Lane and Delahay Mews await demolition. Across Charles St. and the court of the India Office block, to

Downing St: in which the houses of the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the First Lord might be coloured yellow. By Treasury Passage to the Horse Guards Parade, looking on to which perhaps the only house is the official residence of the Sec. to the Admiralty. The new buildings, still unfinished, of this Department, are conspicuous in the N.E. corner. By S. James' Palace, to Stable Yard: mainly offices of the Lord Chamberlain and others of the Household, and rather misleadingly coloured red. Stafford House looked as gloomy as usual, and Stratton remarked that he had never known it have much life, except for an occasional ball or "cadge for charity"!

XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX but the Carlton Gardens and Carlton House Terrace remain the same, y.

Pall Mall East is the boundary of the Sub-Division, and neither here, nor in Cockspur St., is any colouring required. In Pall Mall the shops etc. begin E. of the United Service Club, and here, as in Cockspur St. the upper floors are used almost exclusively as offices. Running S.W. is Warwick St. On the S. side are three or four houses that are coming down, and a public house and one house, let as lodgings, are the only occupied. ~~houses~~. The house was described as being occupied by "influential" people, and complaints to the police are not infrequently made of nuisance arising from the cabbies and others who use the public house adjoining. The word "influential" was unexpected in connexion with this not very distinguished spot, and on asking for a meaning Stratton gave the explanation that they were "people we have to study -- they were not poor people". It transpired that a good many of the lodgers were commercial travellers and the incidental remark of my inspector perhaps threw an interesting side-light on the social attitude of the police. On the N. side of Warwick St. one or two of the houses are also let for lodgings, but most of them are the backs of the Cockspur St. premises. S.W. are the Carlton Mews: pink. Warwick Mews leading out of Cockspur St. are almost entirely unoccupied, and need not be coloured. The ~~ba~~ entrance to the public gallery of the County Council Chamber is here.

Carlton Mews - pk

Spring Gardens, with the exception of one house in which lodgers are taken, is entirely given up to office use, the L.C.C. and the Admiralty taking up the greater part. The Chapel at the S.E. corner is unused. S.W. from that point the new buildings of the Admiralty are seen, still in the builders' hands. To the S.E. is Buckingham Court, a short row of 3 storeyed houses, entirely used as offices, and coming down it is believed. A narrow passage leads E. into Charing Cross, the general character of which is like that of Cockspur St. On the E. side is .

Craig Court, with nothing but offices, the Army Pay Office and one large house, Lady Harrington's, on the E. side. This should be coloured yellow. Down Northumberland Avenue, mainly well-known hotels on the S. side, to Great Scotland Yard, in which, apart from the Fire Brigade Station (pink), the public house (red), and some stables including Mr. Goschen's, lying to the N.W. of it, there are hardly any occupants. Many of the premises are the backs of properties entered from the adjacent streets.

Whitehall Place is coming down on S. side, and the N. is en-

Lady Harrington's house - yellow

G^t Scotland Yard: part of N. side - pink.

(8)

tirely non-residential -- offices etc.

Whitehall Court (part) - yellow

Whitehall Court, a palatial reminder of Jabez Balfour's schemes, should be coloured yellow, omitting the N. end taken up by the Nat. Liberal Club.

Middle Scotland Yard is down, or coming down, and will form part of the site of the future War Office.. Across the Horse Guards' Avenue, called Whitehall Yard on the map, to Whitehall Gardens, with the old Banqueting Hall etc. on the W. and the Board of Trade on the N.E. is a row of houses, with the National Club at the S. end. Apart from this rightly coloured yellow. The Duke of Buccleuch's house and Richmond Terrace betray no change; yellow, as map, and Richmond Mews, remain pink.(uncoloured on map).

Derby St. has only its public house occupied, the rooms over the other house on the N. side being used as offices. Beyond on the same side, is New Scotland Yard, and on the S. side are the side of the Civil Service Commission and the windows of the Whitehall Club. In Cannon Row on the S. are the front of the Civil Service Commission and the back of S. Stephen's House, the temporary home of some departments of the L.G.B. with its frontage opening on to the Embankment. ~~xxx~~ For the rest the Row is taken up by offices, a restaurant and a public-house.

The dinginess of Cannon Row leads out into the magnificence of ~~C~~ Fridge St., with the S. Stephen's Club at the S.E. corner, shops further W. on the ground level, and offices of various kinds above, the upper floors of S. Stephen's Chambers being used in this way. It remains therefore uncoloured, as also does Parliament St., which, with fewer shops, is very much of the same character. The whole of the W. side is down at this moment, in part preparation for the erection of new Government buildings on the site, of which King St. will form almost the central line. Parliament St. has just been widened to form an unbroken line with Whitehall and one of the big London "improvements" is at the moment in the making.

Notes of a walk with Sub-Divisional Inspector Cousins of the Rochester Row (A) Sub-division, in the area bounded by Victoria St., Vauxhall Bridge Rd, and Rochester Row (see plan) forming part of the parishes of S. Andrews, S. Stephen's, & St. Peter's.

Starting from the police station in Rochester Row, we went S. turning N.W. up

Willow St. 2 storeyed houses; "mixed labouring class"; poor; "all houses with more than one family"; a few poor shops, but these the exception; half the line on the E. side N. of Buckingham Cottages cleared, and the rest of this side as far as the cottages coming down; the Ecclesiastical Commissioners the owners; future use of site unknown. Purple, as map. On the W. side is

Willow Place, a short cul-de-sac, with 2 st. houses on one side and 3 st. on the other; dirty women and children about; some of the doors open; people said to be "very low", but nothing criminal advanced against the place, which is a survival in this immediate n'hood of ~~XXXX~~ similar courts that have been cleared away. Dark blue, as map. S.W. down

Francis St.: Guards' Buildings (married quarters) on the left uncoloured; ?~~b.~~, purple, or pink. into Vauxhall Bridge Rd. Near the corner a passage leads, on the left, to Gloucester Terrace: 2 storey houses, small spaces in front,

S. Andrew's Terrace - purple

but rarely gardens; respectable occupants; ~~xxxxxx~~ never remembers a charge from here; houses on W. side only; purple as map. Close by, a little further E. is S. Andrew's Terrace, very much of the same description; improved; some police living there. Light blue to purple. Vauxhall Bridge Road, S. of Francis St. to Rochester Row, 3 storey houses; some shops; no change; pink-barred, as map. Rochester Row, 2, 3, 4nd 4 storey houses; mostly shops; small tradesmen living over for the most part; thinks no servants would be found here; improved, and improving, but still pink, or, possibly, to pink-barred on W side. as map. The corner, N of the Police Station vacant to Allen St.; the Station going to be re-built on this site. On the W. side, N. of the Alms Houses, is the Dispensary, and N. of this to a comparatively new building, Pepys House, a kind of Institute belonging to S. Stephen's, the houses are comin down to make room for one of the many local extensions of the Army and Navy Stores. Lower down and W. are Buckingham Cottages; Chambers on S. side, 4 storeys, the rest of the cottages 3 storeyed; improved; quieter; not better off; purple, as map. Some soldiers living in the chambers. By Willow St. to Francis St:(N.E.) All cleared N.W. of Buckingham Cottages, and ground quite open therefore as far as Coburg Buildings.

(3)

purple, pink, and light blue colouring goes out.

Coburg Buildings; Improved Industrial Dwellings Co; 108

lettings, of from 2 to 4 rooms, always with scullery; rents from 6/3 to about 10/6; built in 1876; pink, as map.

Windsor Place has the above buildings on the S. and a clearance on the N. S.E. into

Coburg Row: no colour on W. side: Schools and Refuge

~~Windsor Place~~; clearance between Windsor Place and Green except for Green Coat Buildings at corner. ^{S. of Coburg Building} ~~to the public house~~ Coat Row; ~~the~~ Army and Navy depot N. of Green Coat Row. On the

E. side: Hospital; 2 storey houses; a few shops;—poor; respectable; no change  to Green Coat Row; then houses still standing, but coming down for the Army and Navy extension. Up to this point, purple, as map, on this side. Cousins said that the free Refuge had never given any trouble, although some of the very poorest were attracted by it. E. out of Coburg Row, are Alfred Cottages: only two of them; decent; light blue, if coloured; not shown on map.

S. Anne's Place has disappeared.

S. of the Alms Houses in Rochester Row, and running due N.W.

through the cleared lines of purple, is the new

Emery Hill St: its continuation runs into Ashley Gardens; at present no buildings on either side, except S. of Coburg Row, but here only offices on one side and the sides of the Alms Houses on the other. No colour.

(Note: It is not improbable that the improvements and clearances in this n'hood are preparing the way for an extension S.E. of the kind of residential property that has been put up N. of Francis St -- Ashley Gardens etc.)

At the N.E. of Coburg Row is Old Rochester Row: a clearance on the S. side, and half the light blue, (W. half) on the N. The pink bit is Artillery Bdgs. "good"; rents run up to 13/- or 14/-; pink, as map. Down Coburg Row to

Green Coat Row: at S.E. corner Green Coat Bdgs; 4 storeys; much like Coburg Buildings; very respectable; from l.b. to purple. On same side, further W. is a row of 7-2 storey house with basements, called Francis Place; from l.b. to purple. On the other side of the Row, nothing but Army and Navy; all colour goes. N. up Francis St: Post Office buildings on the W. nothing but Army and Navy on the E. The little triangular enclosure on map, pink, for Fire Brigade. No other colour here. The E. continuation of Phillip St. (properly Howick Place) ~~xxxxxx~~ N. ~~xx~~ Army and Navy Stores on both sides.

Artillery Row, on W. side, between Howick Place and Coburg ~~xxxxx~~ ~~xxxxx~~ Row; 4 st. houses; pub. etc.; "no working-class";

Green boat Row- purple

Artillery Row: new mansions - red

(5)

The Stores beginning to absorb room here; pink to pink-barred. On the E. side, below the flats at N. end, a new block has been built; yellow; South of these small 2 storey houses; pink, as map. On the W. side is Spencer Place; a cul de sac; mainly taken up by the Army and Navy Stores, even some of the rooms in Spencer Buildings, the block at the S.E. corner, being used by them. These still mainly, however, in ordinary occupancy; "very respectable"; like Coburg Buildings; pink, as map.

Ashley Gardens occupy the space E. of Ambrosden Avenue, except the part taken up by the new Post Office; large flats; rents from about £300 a year downwards; mainly well occupied, but later in the walk Cousins drew an unfavourable comparison between the flats and the not very respectable N. end of Vauxhall Bridge Road, as regards the number of kept women living there. A certain proportion of these appear~~s~~ to get in to almost every block. The Gardens are continued on the W. side of Ambrosden Avenue, for about 2/3ds of the way down, the remaining third being taken up by the Police quarters for the unmarried men; 167 of them here. This police block pink; the Gardens yellow. Between the Avenue and Morpeth Terrace, the vast new Roman Catholic Cathedral is being built.

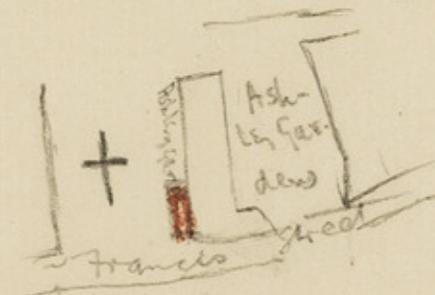

Ashley Gardens - yellow
Ambrosden Avenue - y & pk.

(6)

Morpeth Terrace, yellow, as map, has been continued S. to Francis Street.

Carlisle Place - all yellow

Carlisle Place, "Street" on map, remains yellow; the pink space at the S. end is Cardinal Vaughan's house, and should perhaps be red; the uncoloured space at the N. is now taken up by Evelyn Mansions, with their backs running through to Vauxhall Bridge Road; these yellow.

Ashley Place; no change; yellow, as map.

Vauxhall Bridge Road (N. of Francis St.) 4 st. houses; nearly all let in "apartments"; on the W. side of the Road (out of this sub-division) numerous private hotels, most of them with the same kind of reputation as those in the Euston Road. The whole street at this part has gone down a good deal since Couzens came, and now has a bad reputation; many of the houses, both those with apartments and those that call themselves hotels, are houses of accommodation; the women who use them mostly live away, many of them in Pimlico, but a certain number of "flash women" are living in the Road. It was here that I asked whether many kept women were living here, getting an answer in the negative and the reference to Ashley Gardens, in which Cousins went so far as to say that he thought more kept than married women were to be found there. This is probably a great exaggeration, but Cousins has been called in to deal with several cases of one kind or another in queer ménages that he has found there and clearly had evidence that second establishments are not uncommon in ~~the~~ Ashley Gardens. He said that Evelyn Gardens was free from this sort of thing. Vauxhall Bridge Road, pink-barred, as map, the N.W. corner uncoloured space becoming yellow, for Evelyn Gardens.

Victoria St. to Artillery Row, has now hardly any block of Mansions in which either offices or shop-frontages are not keeping in. The latter change is very common, it being the natural transition in such an important thoroughfare as Victoria St. Yellow to yellow-barred, like Mount St. etc.

Notes of a walk with Divisional Inspector Cousins, in the area bounded by Victoria St. on the South, Buckingham Palace Gardens and S. James Park on the North, with Upper Grosvenor Gardens and Princes St. as the Western and Eastern limits, forming part of the parishes of S. Peter, S. Andrew, Christchurch, & S. Margaret.

We started at the Police Station, walking up Vauxhall Bridge Road to Alington St on the N. side of Victoria St: 3 st. houses; shops and lodging houses; working-class; very respectable; a Music-hall with an entrance from this street is said to have no deteriorating effect; "very different class of thing now, and different class of people; used to be very rough, but changed". Pink, as map.

Victoria St. opposite the Met. Station; good shops; no change; red, as map. To the N. is Brewer St. 3 st. houses; shops at S.W. end, but mainly houses let as lodgings; many of the servant class come here. Pink, as map. N. up Brewer Place; cul de sac; 2 room cottages (Red); clean & quiet-looking. No one detained by Warwick Row (Buckingham Place on map); all occupied by Gorringes; on the E. side, work-rooms and assistants living over. Pink on this side, as map. Still North to Princes Row, mainly $3\frac{1}{2}$ st. houses; a dull corner; blind at E. end; all lodging letting houses here; shops at N.W. end.

Wallace's Yard - purple

all pink, as map. The Chapel shown on map, now the S. Peter's Working mens' club. North into Wallace's Yard, stables; cabbies and jobbers on West side. Pink to purple here. On the E. side the Casual Ward of S. George's, called the "Workhouse" on map.

Buckingham Palace Road; no change; good shops; red, as map.

The public house at the E. end of Lower Grosvenor Place belongs to a man whom we happened to meet and to whom Cousins spoke. He was a well-dressed man of perhaps 40; a bachelor; started with this single house* and now has nine; keeps his carriage in London; hunters in the country, and lives "in S. James".

Victoria Square (ex on E side) - yellow

Victoria Square; 3 and 4 st. houses with basements; all occupiers said to be "independent except a doctor", but on E. side there are two or three houses that take lodgers. But the Square has always had a good class of occupants. The Earl of Mount Eggecumbe is at No. 5. Query red to yellow except on East side. South is

Eaton Lane, "one of the slum parts of this n'hood"; used to be very rough; a few small shops; narrow, dull; light blue as map. On the North side are four courts:--

Rogers Court; stables etc. l.b., as map;

Eaton Court; 3 st. houses; mainly let by floors; palinge small enclosures in front of the houses; less people living here than there used to be, and improved; saw an old lady who had been there for 54 years; l.b. to purple. There are two other very small courts, un-named, no change; l.b. as map Lower Grosvenor Gardens (N. side); mansions; shop frontages red to yellow barred. 5 storeyed.

(3)

Upper Grosvenor Gardens: large private houses; no change; yellow, as map. North-east along Lower Grosvenor Place: Spanish Embassy at N.W. corner; then flats, with shop frontages; here yellow to yellow-barred. The red part, shops, remains. On the N. side are two houses occupied by officials connected with the Royal Stables; query mark red.

Ebury St. North end; Ranelagh House (flats) at N.W. corner; shop frontages; red to yellow-barred. The rest of this side 4 st. houses; shops etc. lodgings; red as map. On W. side Grosvenor Gardens Mews: pink, as map.

N.E. is Stafford Place: Large flats being built on W. side on site of Post Office; 5 and 6 storeys; running through to B. Palace Road. Pink to yellow here. E. side; 3 st. houses; with attics and basements; lodgings and private houses; pink to pink-barred to opposite yellow shown on map; then Stafford Mews, pink, as map, with mews again at ~~end~~ end of the Place.

Buckingham Gate; yellow, as map, with additional colour for the flats running through from Stafford Place. The uncoloured N. corner is the Duchy of Lancaster Offices.

James St: colouring all wrong here; houses improved, but as far as the end of the open space in the Parade Ground, they have always been privately occupied. Some are large; all are good. Pink-barred to yellow. Where the buildings begin on the N. side, the new Buckingham Gate Mansions begin on the South side; occupied by well-to-do people, but not always by a very respectable class; "would not vouch for them" pink-barred to red. Then it should probably be yellow as far as at present uncoloured for the new Mansions - S. James Court - which will fill in the empty space. They are enormous, and Cousins said that they would be "of the best". S. of the railway the pink bit has been rebuilt, Hills etc. from pink to red, including the end S. of the Mews. On the N. side the Work-house has for a long time been used by the Guards, as one of their married quarters; from colour pink. The dark-blue bit E. of it has gone, most of the space being taken up by the Soldiers' Home. Near Victoria St. pink as map, for the back of Peabody Bdg. except at extreme S. E. end, where there is a large public-house, which should be red. Behind the W. side is Brewers' Green Mews, no change; pink, as map. By the passage between the blocks of Peabody, in the courts of which the numbers of clean and healthy children were noticeable, to Palmers St which, to Caxton St. is pink and yellow as map, for the Buildings and the backs of Iddesleigh Mansions. Vandon St: l.b. and d.b. as map; "very low class; some rough girls skipping in the roadway were described by cousins as "a fair sample" of the people living on this spot. Two of the houses were closed, and it is probable that the whole of this site will be cleared and mansions be built on the N. as they have already been on the S. side of James St. The worst house in Vandon St. is an evil looking 5 storey structure.

Demolition

York St: a good deal altered and improving. At N.W. corner imposing new mansions are building; good, but not much room behind; purple to red here. Next are the Wellington Chambers, rechristened "mansions" for effect; badly letting and badly looking; "a queer class of occupiers". The street mainly shops, and, as far as Palmers' St., from purple to pink. Between the public house at Palmers St. corner and the one opposite Kifford Court, Welsbach Lighting Co. Offices make a break in the colour. East of Palmers St. York St. still further improves; Albany Chambers etc. new; two or three houses empty clearly previous to demolition. (E.A.) Feb. 13.

Starting from Rochester Row, along the North side of Vincent Square: No change except the new Westminster Technical Institute; private houses; red, as map.

Page St.: "all working-class in this n'hood"; 2 and $3\frac{1}{2}$ st.
houses; an irregularly built street; respectable; pink,

Kensington Place. and Vincent Row. The latter has 2 st. cot ← purple tages on E. side. No colour on West; only two or three houses, Vincent Cottages a little more to the W. are not shown on map; only 3 of them; 2 rooms each; rent 4/6; clean; nothing broken; light blue, if coloured.

Vincent St.: no change; 2 st. houses; quiet; pink, as map. ← purple South-east of Earl St is

Hudson St the houses on the S. side being called S. John's Terrace; 3 storeyed; cul de sac; respectable; close to the gas works, but the occupiers said to be "a good deal above the gas-worker class"; l.b. to purple.

Earl St: no change; 2 and $2\frac{1}{2}$ st. houses; R.C. presbytery at N.E. corner; pink, as map. Further East is Johnson St: a row of 3 st. houses on W. side not coloured on map; "apartments" etc.; belong to Army and Navy Stores, as does the public house in this street, which "they use in connexion with their catering work". This W. side should be coloured pink. Running East is Grosvenor St: 2 and $2\frac{1}{2}$ st. houses; no change; a quiet spot; leave pink, as map. South down

Grosvenor Road: 3 and 4 st. houses; red, as map; then Mowlem's yards; next the Speaker's Stables, which should be coloured pink, and S. of this a good row of red-brick houses; gabled; fairly deep, but narrow, and bad at their backs; red, as map. Behind them is Purbeck Place: 3 st. houses; working-class; a good many of Mowlem's men; respectable; pink, as map. The Millbank Site is partly taken up by the Tate Gallery; by Government property (see plan) on the S. portion of which Cousins says that a Military Hospital is to be built; and by the L.C.C. The whole site is laid out with street plans and eventually there will be communication ~~xxxxxxxxxx~~, ~~NORTHxxxxxx~~ ~~and~~ ~~SOUTH~~ through to the neighbouring streets

Ponsonby Place; Roehampton St; and Ponsonby Terrace are all very much alike; 3 st. houses; and they have not changed; pink, as map. They were all described by Cousins as having improved in general character; quieter and so forth, though not occupied by a different class.

Bessborough Gardens: 4 st. houses with basements; mostly "apartment" houses; pink-barred, as map. In Vauxhall Bridge Road, to Rochester Row, the chief change is the erection of some new flats, second rate and not affecting colouring, at S.E. corner of Wheeler St. Leave all pink-barred, as map. Mainly shops.

Wood Street: varied; mainly 3 st. houses; quiet; scattered shops; pink, as map to Tufton St. W. of this point, called Little Peter St. on the map, but really forming part of Wood St., lower class, and goes from pink to purple. S. is North St: looks like a wider Cowley St; old houses of the same period; 3 st. and attics; working-class occupants; pink, as map. W. of it is

S. John St: narrower; 2 and 3 st. houses; modern, ugly, white brick; pink, as map. On N. side of Wood St is Young's Place: 3 st. houses; bird-catcher etc. dark blue, as map. On the N. side of the same street is Wood's Place: 3 st. houses; gloomy; broken windows; doors open; some dirty children, some clean ones playing about; some working-class said to be living here, and "two or three ruffians". Dark blue, as map. Leading from Great College

St. into Tufton St. there used to be Black Dog Alley, of which only two houses are left; queer places; 2 rooms each; the occupier of the one we spoke to is paying 7/- a week, but is thankful for the quiet of her corner. If coloured, then light blue.

G.C.M. St.

Tufton St. N. of Little Smith St. has the Church House on l.b. goes out. W. side, and only one house (pink) on the E. and Little Smith St. also loses its colour: Church House on the N. and the Westminster Chorlton House on the S.

Tufton St: between Little Smith St. and Wood St. now has the Architectural Museum at N. end of W. side, and then 3 houses which, if coloured, are light blue, as map. On E. side shops etc. light blue, to purple. South of Wood St. the street is much poorer and rougher; some bad buildings; a bad Common Lodging House; and, in any case ~~in~~ in No. 65, into which I penetrated, bad sanitary provision. The yard and W.C. filthy, and flushing out of order. The street was noisy with children, and cousins said that there were an extraordinary number living in it. It appears to be one of the few spots in Westminster that have deteriorated from the demolitions and should, I think, get from light to dark blue. The colour at S.W. corner goes out, the space being now occupied by the Board School. Off Tufton St. on the right is Tufton Place: decent, except one house; l.b. as map. Williams Place, a little further S. on the same side, said to be very rough; a canary in one window; saw a decent woman and child there; light blue, as map. Lower down is Bennett's Yard: 3 houses; being done up; light blue, as map.

Little Tufton St: some broken windows; a "rough lot" said to be living in two of the houses; query light to dark blue. By Marsham Street and Horseferry Road, tx N. up

Laundry Yard: narrow; neglected by occupiers, owners and Vestry; the rubbish a disgrace; pined children; fat women; always had a bad name; not so bad as formerly, but, "if any black anywhere here"; "one of the lowest places in W'ster"; dark blue to dark blue barred. By Peter St. S. down

Monck St: the dark blue of map remains, and indicates a Common Lodging House etc. Lower down are ~~are~~ two 4 st. houses; some have gone from the S. end; otherwise light blue remains as map. On the W. side, near the N. end is Monck Court: 6 2 st. cottages; d.b. as map. Lower down the Dark-blue barred Court on same side has gone; now the Vestry Depot. Omit colour. W. along Horseferry Road, and N. up just N.E. of Medway St. a terrible dark-blue house, but apart from this the street somewhat improved.

Arneway St: mainly 2 st. houses; colour goes out on W. side, N. of Medway St. Otherwise l.b. as map. Working-class. No. 10

purple Medway St: 2 st. houses; improved; Cousins lived in it as an unmarried man, when he came to the district first; "rough enough then"; light blue to purple. N. up Horseferry Rd.

Chadwick St: 2 and 3 st. houses; black and grimy; open doors dirty children and bad-faced women; all the normal signs of physical neglect and moral degradation. Cousins asked how the street was coloured, and on being told replied "I shan't alter it"; he appeared to think that thieving and prostitution were the chief occupations of the people. Black, as map. Note that the back of the Training College takes up about a third (in the middle) of the South side.

Great Peter St: a good deal improved, especially the E. half of the N. side. At the corner here is "Westminster Mansions" ↪phb² dark blue to red or pink-barred; then Burroughs and Watts new premises: black goes out. W. of S. Ann's St. the d.b. gives way to the red of the new vicarage, and W. of the church, half of the patch of d.b. goes out, for the lads' Home etc. E. of Perkins' Rents the db remains, but the pink becomes purple, for the Buildings {a little more colour wanted.} The rest of the street remains d.b. and purple as map, except at the E. end of the S. side, where a substantial new house changes the d.b. to purple. The unchanged dark blue of the street is mainly composed of old houses; many single room tenements; a thoroughly bad women's common lodging house on the N. side, and doubtless many disreputable people among the other occupants. The corner public houses near Chadwick St. and Perkins Rents whenever I have passed have had their groups of vulgar, fat, slatternly, lowest standard women gossiping round, some doubtlessly from Chadwick St. itself, but between it and Peter St. here there is not much to choose.

Marsham St: (S. at E. end) is much the same; shops etc. pink, as map.

Blue Anchor Court: (S. of Peter St.) 6 2 st. cottages; d.b. as map. Bull's Head Court, a little to the W. down. One d.b.

S. Matthew's St: (N. of W. end of Peter St.) mainly 2 and 4 st. buildings; very gloomy; S. Matthew's Mission takes about a quarter from the N. end on W. side, including the black spot; the rest d.b. and purple as map.

Old Pye St: all the buildings, both those on N. side and E. of Perkins Rents ~~pink~~ ^(except Westminster Buildings) ~~purple and~~ as map. the rest of the street, as map, l.b. d.b. and purple, except towards the E. end of S. side, where half the dark blue is down.

Perkin's Rents: buildings on both sides; those on E. side as map, ~~pink~~, ~~purple~~, ~~blue~~, ~~green~~

S. Ann's Lane: E. side, d.b. as map; W. side, l.b. as map for Westminster Buildings, a worse block than any of the others round here.

S. Anne's St: N. of Old Pye St. E. side: re-built at N. corner with a public house with frontage in Orchard Sh. The rest of the l.b. remains. W. side: ~~Building~~; pink as map.

S. of Pye St: the N. corner d.b. rather than l.b. of map, on account of a Common Lodging House there; ~~maxthm~~ the d.b. lower down goes out. On the East side, the S. corner of black disappears for Burroughs and Watts place; above this point, (uncoloured), the black remains, but of the court shown only one house remains.

Great Smith St. has been a good deal altered and improved; opposite Little Smith St. Baths and new Free Library; N. of Little Smith St. colour also goes out for new Church House. The pink on E. side, North of Dean's Yard goes out the houses having been pulled down. On the other side at the corner of Orchard St. is P.S. King's new shop and warehouse (colour red); to the south of it is a Common Lodging House (dark blue); and the street is then clear for the moment to the curve. With the exceptions noted the street goes from pink to pink-barred. W. along

Orchard St: the l.b. to red, for King's place and the new public house. Then Buildings: pink as map; a printing works, & large ~~work~~ ~~mainly~~ Offices.

At the Victoria St. end on the W. side are the new Flats, 7 storeyed, the scene of the building accident; not occupied
yet. The passage leading out of Stratton Ground on the E Pear St: d.b. as map on N. side; 2 or 3 poor little houses; colour out on S. side for Weston Buildings.
