Salvation Army Corps.

31 ~~th~~
October 1907

Regent Hall, Oxford Street.

Visited this Hall on week evening. It was decorated with festoons & flags, which had been used for a sale in the previous week. The galleries were closed, & the meeting, (one for S.A. soldiers only) was being held in the central part of Hall. The meeting had just commenced (about 8.15) and 30-40 people were present. Others came in at intervals before I left. They were mostly working men & women, many of the latter were domestic servants and there were two or three unmistakably tramps. (Nearly 60 people were present, present. The meeting was led by an officer (Adjutant) & his wife, the former leading the singing with a concertina. The people sang lustily, but it sounded hollow in the large hall. When I came out, I got into conversation with a Salvationist, who turned out to be a former Hall keeper, who had been there many years. He has recently given up the post, & was working as an insurance agent & evidently met many of his clients in the vestibule of the Hall. He said that they used to get the place crowded; not only on Sunday but on weekdays the meetings were also large. The novelty has worn off & now the galleries are only opened on Sunday or on special occasions. This number at the week night meetings would only exceed 100 about twice a week, but on Sunday evening, the body of the place was fairly filled. They hold an open air meeting in Hyde Park, & others in the poor streets north of Oxford Street. He spoke very highly of Ensign Miller who was the officer there when we were doing the district, but who could not see us through illness.

Inspector Hornsley - 16, 20, 21, 22 Feb. Next

Starting at Victoria Station

Wilton A.º great parade for prostitutes. the restaurants all decently conducted - no private rooms

Hotel double - Vauxhall St A.º Private Hotels many prostitutes living here. Hotels used as brothels like Guston A.º. Gillyham S. notorious for brothels but some decent houses & apartments

Belgrave A.º (yellow) showing signs of decay - some lodgers houses - some houses badly needing painting, Strand Place - bit of a breeze here sometimes a S.º no signs of squalls - Warwick S. market on Sat. West of Belgrave A.º mostly respectable but in other as in all the streets about here (not yellow) there are some prostitutes

Garden S. lately rebuilt with neat modern cottages

Nessborough S.º some respectable but a number of these women some undoubted brothel - A Garden worse

Tulford S. constant rows trouble to police

Aylesford S. rough but not so rough - some low type prostitutes

Claverton S.º beginning to look very shabby

Teaboy, Blag, Grosvenor road - nice open blocks

Sutherland, Combe and Wanchester S.º full of prostitutes

S. George Area shabby genteel but yellow

Denby S.º notorious for high class prostitutes & kept room

Commercial place by canal - not on map. broken windows - quiet dark to light blue - Robert S.º Labourer Costen. rough & inclined to be troublesome.

Stifford Blag (End of Westminster) generally not high

Wellington Blag - large gloomy block - Chelsea S.º appropriated by wealthier class - kept women & prostitutes

General Remarks

XIII 2 31

Salient feature the extraordinary number of prostitutes who live in it - found throughout. except in Pimlico A.º comes

The area which seems with them bounded by S^t Georges R^d the Ry. Westmoles S^t & Lupus S^t has (Hornby says) more than 1/3 of houses so occupied - mostly they live here - do not buy men using houses in Soho. though many houses are used here - not a district in which neighbors complain many of the houses are tenanted by foreign waiters who let the rooms - no striking poverty - no squalor - in Palford S^t Com much rowdiness - in the non streets a downward tendency. Greatest change in district at East end of S^t Georges R^d where red becomes pink - pink purple - + will if it goes on come be blue - tall houses - depressing streets ^{thick} narrow no where else in London such an effect of shabbiness built for middle class + quite unsuited for present occupants (like Woodchester S^t + Paddington)

Result of decay houses become filthy grimy + dilapidated no paint - plaster peeling + cracking - etc. - indeed + repaired the memory a nightmare.

While here it is odd in other streets South of Newham Place R^d the shabbiness is that of shabby gentility - even the well to do take little pride in their houses - Impressions gathered from the look of the houses - few glimpses obtained of habitation Distinct outwardly respectable - busy streets + a face at a window rare - a smile of recognition (for the inspector from a lately raided prostitute 'at it again you see' Clean come out of school - well shod + clad + looked well fed -

One type of house - 3 to 5 store brick or stucco with better the degraded up architecture of 60 years ago build fairly good to start but showing signs of decay to day on the end of lease - Model the most cheerful

Number of tenanted houses not large - well considered only trouble from those at East end of Palford S^t + not then full any public open space S^t Georges R^d 9th - busy with well done shops clean Inspector H. an excellent fellow + very nice telling the truth a fair to him one been here 2 years + had not been with some of the courts before

Great improvement from Police house rules

Waterman is an excellent fellow - about retire after 25 years service in this sub division. He therefore knows the district unusually well - His service is one of great improvement in the people from Police point of view. Less rowdiness & greater amenity all round. On duty near all Christmas night I saw scarcely any one drunk - none so drunk as not to be able to walk - 20 years ago very different. Fewer houses used openly as brothels & on the whole fewer women in the streets - but great increase of occasional street walking of girls employed in the day - will not go into service & prelife leads to license & immorality. Sends his own girls into service. [yet more prostitutes come from servant class]

Remarks on the whole a quiet respectable district - but of inhabitants fairly good working class - but the brick shows show signs of decay except the more modern Redcliffe St & Redburn St. - the older houses although a poor class & the streets are narrow.
 Much of local poverty has been created by demolition of Turris Row & this may account for deterioration of Paradise Walk - Here yellow colored literally thrown ashore into black (or vice versa!) - Woodfield St also modern neighborhood not improved by the large Common Lodging Hs so oddly placed District well off for open ground Nurton Court - not open except in summer for cricket but the grounds of Chelsea Hospital are - a beautiful pleasant & restful spot - unlike anything else in London
 The same walk remaining of Oxford rather than London

District divided in two halves - the one scarcely inferior to Belgravia - the other poor & hardly showing
 "New Chelsea" was begun 10 years ago but demolition & rebuilding continues still - increasing yellow area & will perhaps swallow most of the poor streets of old Chelsea between Sennar St & Marlborough Rd - It is too new to show signs of decay - it may be less wealthy than Belgravia than Mayfair or Belgravia - a greater impression given of luxury & magnificence

Remarks Contd

XIII^o 143

Adjoining this shambles - separated only the shabby gentility of Doughty Moore (Halsey St) has the honest bit of old Chelsea - a quarter of mean 2 or 3 storied streets remaining of Mile End (Melrose Green) - Here are signs of decay - the worst streets Oakham & Dues St remain much as before but have contaminated the streets near & much of the dirt has come - perhaps some of it into the new Marlborough Buildings leaving old houses for the evicted from round Marl St - for whom also provision has been made in the Guinness Alder off the Marlborough Rd -

Poverty in this district mostly of respectable kind excess in Oakham St & Little Keppel St & Thornby Jones St little of sordid squalor of Hoxton or Lisson Grove or Tottenham - Excess Dues St - the streets are cheerful in spite of being often narrow & backless - only in Dues St a real life scene intolerable

Andrews has not much evil to say of his ground but admitted (as regards Narbonne Street (Belling)) that we should never get the police to admit much that was wrong as it would be condemning themselves.

In the main a true witness who he says district is on whole quiet & law abiding - & Police work not so much connected with crime as general protection Regulation of traffic & so on - Such disorders as exist are minor Andrews favored regulation as one means of decreasing prostitution - was 10 years in Piccadilly Division elsewhere unless there are licensed houses, he favors policy of toleration which seems pursued here - leaving the houses unmolested so long as quietly conducted - but in Piccadilly, & so on some harshly necessary - otherwise it would become one vast brothel & an intolerable scandal Recognized little improvement in district

Thought Police should not be too highly educated - but man a comely youth - Andrew intensely wholesome - came himself from cloth work & found the life almost intolerable at first more than half this district is with the possible exception of Mayfair the yellowest in London & remains unaltered - the huge houses palatial mansions remain an indication the news are still all Monte Outside Yellow area - a considerable amount of poverty & still more of middle & good working class. In Elizabeth's area where many old streets & courts remain - signs of Squares &

General Remarks

The Chelsea district may be considered as consisting of 24 lots - The first between College Marchant & Arthur S. almost purely work class & scarcely altered. Comfort & respectability the main characteristics but contains 2 Court shots. Pond Ter. & Manns Allyn & the latter has deteriorated - Some light blue has gone. The second stretch from Arthur S. to Gunter S. near S. Marks Collec. - in red & yellow no decay but think think based there are indications. Camera Sq. & the streets to west all going down but there is still comfort & respectability. The one plague shot is Staid bun? - one of the vile places where one is surprised to find any decent what & this seems to have gone down. The third lies between Keys R. & river between Floods. Nearfront S. & Nallessen R. - a mixed district of low colors - many S. requiring black line. Such changes as there are follow demolition & building of Mid Cl. Flats - destined to swallow all the poor area along Manns S. -

(Inspectr Scabright)

The progress of cycles north of Kings Road & west of Bloomsd may be noted - & South of Kings Road northward from there.

This district is the most interesting & characteristic in Chelsea. Large parts both rich & poor remain as they were or almost as they were some centuries ago when Chelsea was a village a mile or more from London. The old church & Chaym local are redolent of Queen Anne & the Georges - & the Courts & alleys have a unique character. Elsewhere the Courts are often old village bits superficial but nowhere so markedly as here - & it is with surprise one sees no pig in Jones Cottages.

All these courts are poor & have fallen into evil hands - front gardens now in filthy disorder. The fourth district lies south of Kings Road (west of Beaumont St) as far as Lotts Rd. - The newest & poorest & least pleasing part - Poorly without pretentiousness or romance - most is built on site of Cremorne Gardens & therefore quite modern but all through the tendency is downward purple becoming blue with tinge of black - spirit purple or sea blue - most of all in the older parts Gray Sq the worst spot - Why Santa so low apparent to say the houses though filthy & dilapidated are well built on the Cremorne site there are badly built houses doomed to fall after a few generations of tenants. Altogether a depressing district affording refuge probably to many on their way from demolished Slums. But in the poorer parts most life is seen. Children swarm in the poor Courts - many of school age - seemingly robust but usually dirty - well nourished & fairly well clad - confirm the impression that there is no excessive poverty - no dark blue - but large proportion of rough low people who indulge in drinking & brawling.

page 11.

XIII @ 233.

On question of dirt thought that in the five years he had known the division - no change for better or worse - ⊕ x The Prostitute streets may remain as they are (with no blackline) but on Scabright's evidence we have to add black to Manor Alps, Staidburn, Ellray Sq. Pina Terrace Rossby, part of world's End passage. Some are wholly black but there are a sufficient proportion of lowest semi criminal vicars class to require blackline. Of big crime there is not much but a great deal of petty thieving & assaults the remedy drink are few. As to betting & gambling Scabright says knows of three prominent bookmakers in the district - they are constantly being run in & fined. One of them when summoned calls a cab goes to the court - tells the cab to wait - is fined £5 - goes another £5 to the door box returns to his work. The whole thing is utterly futile -

⊕ For myself (says A & A) in these walks in Chelsea extending over many years now I have seen only one Armburman in the streets - an individual rolling down Little College St. using lurid beastly but occasional comic language - otherwise the streets have been absolutely decorous - though in the rough courts & streets I saw many women whose faces betokened that they are seldom wholly free from influence of alcohol.

⊗ | No where in the division are there big thieves as in Hoxton - police charge. Anti petty thefts or drink travels - Has been active in the attempt to suppress street betting & gambling - in 1895 began a crusade against bookmakers - results for 6 months 10 or 12 Summons daily - about 2/3 paid 1/5 & by this means had cleared the streets & decreased the betting propensities of the people - but he admitted that there are ways in which people still could bet if they wished - tobaccoists & barbers & news agents are the agents & impossible to deal with them all the police can do is to suppress open betting in streets & public houses.

⊗ | Police not much infected themselves.
As to Prostitution - bad as it is - was much worse 20 years ago
No decrease in numbers but more decorous & decent women less debased & less diseased.

⊗ | Favors prosecution of known brothels - does not believe regulation advisable or possible.

⊗ | As to drink great decrease in drink & rowdiness.
The people a total different people from 33 years ago & improvement extended to the police themselves & the public.
The former sober - the latter respectable & careful

⊗ | As to serving the drink - argued the desirability of the present & impossible of conviction or unsupportive burden of conscience
The law then almost a dead letter - denied what police had admitted a certain amount of tolerance in respect to standards of the permissible varying - better to say than to say no police like ours in the world - maintain among the best 50 years

Interview with -
Supt
Inspector Fenett
Paddiptra division
XIII^N 201

A tall man: grave + quiet - beard + moustache long grey, fair delicate looking - pleasant voice manners - Supt Bradford spoke of him as one of the best if not quite the best of all the London Police Superintendents - 55/60 years of age
Three poor areas - Hall Park Estate - Hall Place Neth Hill S. Campbell S. (purple on map) -
The Paddiptra Basin district - north + south of High St
+ 3 S. of High St. Holly Hill. Jameson Johnson + (purple) - Apart from these the division is well off or low rich - no in between class of clerks + no streets for the middle class - lives himself + so do 95% of constables.

Hall Park Estate (West of Adware A. North of canal) A mixture - most of the character with the fairly comfortable (respectable) - Southern portion of Hall Place the poorest - rough noisy + drunken many charges Paddiptra basin noted for drink both men + women
'dirty work' men doing small regular wages dustmen scavengers + whole place smells of dirt + dust - don't see how it is to be altered

South of Holly Hill High St. (Jameson Johnson S.) Small colony poor rough noisy.
none are S. Compared to Holly Hill area large number of charges against those living outside Daily life in town - tide many + noisy - men + women who want work but must live + pick up what they can in rich neighbourhood

It is a district for Englishmen - but the men are from Hoxton S. Lake or Southwark - "no skilled men here" Drunken + disorderly cases do not diminish - in this division 212 more than last year - too much money about - always an increase in prosperous years.
otherwise no increase or decrease - normal condition no decrease among men - not much increase among women

(partly west end)

- Paddington Ave Public houses more attractive than formerly. Ladies interview with Saloon bars "everywhere" - Publican says they are in Inspector Ferrett's response to a demand for them - but cause & effect unclear Cont. XIII^N 20: Increase in value of licensed houses. Many in
 * no slump yet - must indicate increase in drinking.
 Women take drinks men beer - no change of fashion in men
 * Drinks. Beer has always been their main drink never seen a child drunk under 16 or 17 - boys may not be served under 16 - women begin between 17 & 19
 * fashion has favoured them - no one now shocked at seeing women in P.H. - change of feeling come about gradually in last 10 or 15 years neither sex become regular smokers till between 25 & 30 There are men under 20 who have been changed often but they are exceptions - women not usually * Confirmed drunkards till after marriage women forbid children fetching beer that they sh^d
 * not become familiar - might not lead to parents drinking less but might do something for sobriety of children later Sweets not usually given - women not allow it. as making P.H. a pleasant place for children Manager system increasing - with full license a man need not live on premises & whether legal or not many men hold a number of licenses. With beer houses licenses must reside himself - Rules strict & penalties severe against constables taking money. You call many for trades. It happens but was not allowed or written at - take it at great risk
 * As to street drunkenness hopes for alleviation in law at present no offence unless also disorderly - may be brought to station if incapable but must be discharged when sober - if disorderly must also be discharged he can be arrested on information by Const. Thompson

Inspector Ferrell
Cont. X III 207

Saw works infamously against the Seldom drunk who give right address - the old offender give false name & address & disappear.

Of Prostitutes, kept women & brothels there are a fair number - always brothels round a N.Y. Station

* Police keep private list of suspicion houses
| Vestry was very active but has lately done nothing a large number were prosecuted & convicted

* Generally a man & woman keep a brothel together then the man may be charged & disappear | In one case summons was finally issued against two waiters in the house.

* Prostitutes drawn chiefly from servant class | factory girls will cohabit with men they like but not indiscriminately for money - no sign of increase or decrease in numbers - This district does not

* Compare with John Wood for kept women & spots for prostitutes & brothels.

Street rule that no employers shall be told as to trade of lease man - a few convicts return to decent work

* but it seems as if they must take to crime again | as in their blood - always come with a story that the police made it impossible for them to do crime - but the greatest care is taken in visiting
| Not many common lodging houses - since LCC has taken inspection police know less about them - believe they are well conducted & inspected

Very glad to give any further information - | Sir Sedgwick told him that our Survey was of work of national - he was said international importance & that any possible assistance was to be given -

Remarks

One, two thorough poor sheets. South West + Leffen Rd.
 Still poor + probably always have been - remains of district some down in sense of fewer, not families - houses built for servant keep class with two gardens, when there was a country suburb - this is being part of London + sea class have moved out giving place to capital class + artisan class - nor so many here Still poor + building proceeds apace - when electric railway is finished a greater number of city class will come nearby small 2 story houses built rising a mile or so. Poor sheets not really but around - P.H. are better trade so, say - at least of Centon Rd + Gordon Rd is a house

* a demand for new small flats & 2 st houses but not for the old ones. Hopkins did not think the new houses draw the better tenants away, provided if a man moves he goes to a different district.

New houses tenanted by new class - may be young married people from N London who refuse the large houses because they can't afford them & because of their dinginess

* Large houses then fall into working class hands & are sub & sublet & so street loses caste.

Little crime in the division - no district for poor men - nothing worth taking - now & then a few small burglaries - 'Meady in' 'Meady out' - Sunday

* Go by the best time - family at church - rings the bell no answer - goes in - locks the door - takes what he wants & escapes - Plenty of 'good men' in Holly Cross not worth their while to come here.

There is a great love of theatre going.
Rue S^o one of the busiest or quite the busiest market streets of W London - on Sat 1 Apr - day before Easter it was thronged with buyers - pavement & road way + room made with difficulty for vehicles - some are well dressed except sellers of penny toys on the curb - most carry baskets of provisions - more buyers than sight seen - different from East & S. London in absence of noise - see butchers handily shouting buy

(Qu' Remarks 231)

Still fair amount of open space - market gardens at west & private houses & grounds at Southern side. Each year both taken into with amazing acridity - new tenants come from S.W. part of London - but especially South West - drawn by fact that suitable houses are to be had.

Hardly possible to be in London & further from City City goes live on either side of Fulham & Kings R^d Fairly com. working class between Grayhoad R^d & Nishorn R^d - & now in isolated streets or small blocks fairly scattered over whole division.

The vicin^{ty} & a fair proportion of the very poor are found in a block E. of the wandsworth R^d

Here one can effect ^{upon one district} of demolition & displacement of Criminal class in Central London be traced

In most cases the shock is felt gradually - as in the Cadogan estate the very rich displace the very poor who in their turn oust the rather less poor who invade the houses of the fairly comfortable who are driven to take the housing of the serv^{ice} keeping class - or go.

* Any one a silver milkmaid or mother of mother ending with "Take a garden than myself" might be affable.

Thus much of the pink & pink bands in Fulham represents the same class that appeared in the map of Chelsea 10 years ago as pink & pink bands in the streets lying between Fulham R^d & Linsted R^d & the Phos^{ph} whose places have been taken by the pink purple & blue of the old Cadogan Estate.

Most remarkable point about division its growth.
Last year to 31 Dec 1891 89 new houses were built in Hammermith & Shepherd's Bush & 33 were building in Fulham 621 were built & 82 building - making 6 new streets 1200 ^{years} long.

New inlets from all parts - North South & Central very few from Country - Cannot trace actual cause of high inlets from Central London but there must be some. The rough class here is scattered - they leave in a mass but arrive as atoms - Mrs Saxon to deal with scattered.

Roughest & poorest are Irish - but only rough when in drink - don't drink any less - Much more is drunk now than formerly with less drunkenness partly because the beer is lighter but even more because of change in manner - You may drink nowadays & the more you drink the better man you are but you must not be visibly drunk Outward drunkenness is an offence against the manner of all classes.

Parnum & Easts Court Skh have seasonal influence introducing an enormous number of foreigners & prostitutes - Mr Bailey is a teetotaler & a religious man & strict about his employees & is one of his caterers - so that Olympia is no longer a curse but a blessing - because Parnums buy all provision locally - worst time was during run of hero & the ballets - Easts Court still recognises haunts of prostitutes who crowd in eve evening from Fulham & all parts -

[Reports by Booth's "secretaries": Notes on visits to Churches, 1901-1902. fols. 30.]

Sunday, Nov-24th 1861.

I visited St. Anselm's for the evening service at 7 o'clock. It was a fine night; - the cold but clean and brisk.

Directly one enters St. Anselm's one is aware that it's attitude is high. On the altar two candles are burning; before it being no less than seven of the ancient or lamps which are seldom seen in English churches unless on very advanced lines; a processional cross is standing by the choir stalls; there are no pews but rows of wooden ~~chair~~ chairs; there is no pulpit, nothing to interfere with the full view of the altar; the northern aisle is fitted with a second altar for smaller devotional services, and on the walls hang two pictures of religious subjects. Though rather cold in effect with its gray stone pillars and its white undecorated walls St. Anselm's is distinctly a striking church, and with a little added age will probably be exceedingly beautiful. Its interior architecture is much more Norman than Gothic.

all the arches being rounded. There is no sactur⁽²⁾ ~~thin~~, the whole of the sactur end being stone work.

Probably as stated in the text the service - in spite of the indications of rather advanced views in the church - is high but not extreme. Last night there was ordinary services, only differentiated from other churches by the beauty of the music which was excellently given by a large choir. The service - including a hymn of about 20 minutes from (I think) the Book of Common Prayer - lasted just an hour and a quarter.

The congregation consisted of (at the most) 80 females, of whom a few were children, but the vast majority young women; and 12 males of whom 10 were heads of families from 16 to 20: of the latter, four made the collection. The people were entirely working or lower middle class of the most respectable type, just such a congregation as one finds in any church which gets a gathering of that class at all.

I was at the back of the Church, and owing ⁽³⁾ partly to the pitch of his voice, partly to bad articulation, and partly to bad acoustic properties in the church I could scarcely hear a word of Mr Sinclair's sermon, but from what little I did catch it was certainly not worth hearing. After the service Mr Sinclair in his carrook came down to the door to shake hands with as many as possible as they left.

Visit to the Talbot Tabernacle, in Talbot Road in the Westbourne Grove District, Pastor F White, morning service 11-AM. Evening 7.

This is a Baptist Tabernacle standing well back from the road on the N side, approached by an asphaltic path with shrubs on either side: The outside of the building is of red brick: there is a semicircular passage at the entry giving through doors directly on to the few ^{gang ways} passages, at either end is a staircase leading to the gallery where

The inside of the Tabernacle is large & roomy with curved iron girders supporting a domed roof: the glass is of a cheap fairly colored, green, pink, blue & white kind let into the narrow windows in diamonds. There are plenty of windows & enough tho' not too much light comes through them (It was a fairly bright morning): this is their railway restaurant or waiting room. (6)

The pews are of polished yellow pine with a small rack at the end of each for umbrellas.

There are no stools or ledges on which to kneel nor cushions on the seat: in the evening there was a mat on the seat.

The floor which is of wood ^{boards} slopes down to the pulpit. The gangways are linoleum covered.

The colouring of the wood trim girders & walls is a mixture of pale green & Indian red. The pastor had his pulpit or rostrum at the W side of the Church directly facing the audience: in front on a slightly raised platform was the Lords Table covered with a white cloth under which were evidently loaves of bread: at one end of the table (not at the table but facing the rostrum) three middle aged ladies very comfortably dressed sat with their backs to the audience.

The service was of the usual Baptist sort extempore prayer, a good number of hymns, a short address to children, & then a longer address after a hymn & prayer. At the end the pastor hurried round to the entry to shake hands with the people as they left. ⁽⁸⁾

The choir in the gallery sang the hymns par-ticularly well, in time & in tune with very sweet voices: all in unison: the congregation joined in but without any heartiness.

The Congregation. was something between 3 & 400 all very quietly dressed, a good many children, very few men, the majority being young women might come from small shops or be servants, they had a look of country people: all were solidly dressed: all attentive, many with bibles which rustled as the pastor referred to particular texts, they looked them up. Some

Some of the men were of the solid superior (G. A. S. type), one or two of the sidesmen looked like shopwalkers, the older men like small shopkeepers & there were half a dozen of the pro-nounced 'softy' with bulgy head, pale face & glasses & receding chin. But all told there were not more than 30 men as far as I could see, there were some in the gallery above me for I could hear their voices in the choir -

I sat at the back of the floor, just under the gallery: the hymnbook used was the Hymnal Companion with a longish supplement by

by the pastor Frank White.

The Sermon. was by the pastor: sitting by him in the rostrum was Mrs. Wright Hay who gave us a prayer & read the lessons. The subject was the importance attached to 'feet' in the Bible.
The children's 10 minutes was devoted to the pointing out how important it was to be well shod: the greaves & sandals worn by the Roman soldiers were explained: there was an outward man & an inward man, you must be shod inwardly as well as outwardly so as to be able to walk with Christ. Every word could be heard: Mr. White has a pleasant voice. He is Some

Something over 50, I should say, with very little (11) ^{of} hair on the top of his head, a broad forehead, a small fair moustache & a rather pointed ^{pale} face.

In the Cong sermon the 'Feet' question was further developed: 'How beautiful are the feet of those messengers of good tidings'. Christ washing the disciples feet: washing the feet of his social equals not of poor beggars 'like some of his caricaturists (Popes & Emperors)' this was shouted out 'at the present time - We ought to wash one another's feet. Then he pictured Christ coming down to wash his of beautiful humility: the pastor pointed ^{to} ^{at} to his boots as he talked in this way: it was an amazing sermon in the grossest text.

Evening service at 7. if possible fewer men, a few more shop assistants or servants: in numbers the same as the morning. The tabernacle I should say could hold about 1000 on the floor. Mr Wright (the young man who read the lessons in the morning) preached one of the very poorest sermons I have ever heard - on the 'Woman great is thy Faith' text. He has short yellow hair brushed up off his forehead, a little moustache & in insignificant features: dwells on his words (13) with great uncton in a voice which he tries to modulate with care: during each word he sort of listens to his own voice drawing out Ees - rä - elll (Israel) in a high pitched mellifluous tone. I conscientiously tried many times to make out that he was talking sense of any sort but failed. He was still going on when I left at 8.15. There was no reason why he should ever stop. The middle aged lady at the end of my pew was asleep. I can quite understand why no men go to the Tabernacle was lit by electricity: & the place was well warmed. No collection was made but most placed something in one of the boxes (of which there were many) at the door or in the passage, as they left. In the middle of the service a good list of six tires for the week was read out. Mr. workers were appealed for. A soup kitchen had spoken of as a 'Christian work amongst the poor little starved creatures of the district: but it did me good to see their wizened faces light waiting their turn with their jugs.

It was announced that on Monday. Dec 2. a lecture

Part 3, Chap. 2: "West London": Paragraph suggested for insertion on Steinway Hall, Lower Seymour Street (presumably in S. Thomas' Parish).

During the greater part of the year Steinway Hall is crowded on Sunday mornings by members of the Ethical Religion Society and others who wish to hear the eloquent orations of Dr. Washington Sullivan. Membership of the Society is open to all yearly seat-holders, and those who attend are mainly thoughtful members of the well-to-do middle class, presumably believers, with Emerson, in the "new Church founded on Moral Science, the church of men to come". Hymns and solos are sung, and sung well, and readings are given from some writer who has dealt with, and, it may be, is the subject of the address that is to follow, but the great and sufficient attraction is the address itself. The lecturer, formerly a member of the Roman Catholic Church, has great command of language and a remarkable power of stimulating exposition. "Religion is Morality, recognized as a Divine command. Morality is the foundation" is the quotation from Kant that is placed at the head of the sessional cards, and it is in the spirit of this pronouncement that the teaching is given. The subjects chosen cover a wide field, the great intellectual problems of life and destiny, and the study of great lives, great poems and the great religious systems of the world taking their place by the side of others that are more purely ethical and practical in their bearing.

Mem. Material added to the box: Sessional card; list of lectures published; three lectures by Dr. Sullivan on "Retribution", "Hell", and "Christ and Krishna"; a letter from the Hon. Treasurer of the Society and also a leaflet, since sent me by a Member, giving "Principles" and "Aims".

Part 3, Chap. 2: "West London": Notes of a visit to the Christian Science Church, Bryanston Street, presumably in the parish of S. Mary. Sunday morning, Dec. 29, 01, and on Wednesday evening, Jan 1, 02.

This church is the only one in London, but it flourishes, and is ready too large for the building occupied. This building was formerly the Synagogue of the Spanish and Portugese Congregation, and holds perhaps 200 people in the ppincipal room. On the morning of my visit this room was full, the general impression being given of a middle class congregation, including a considerable number of quite well-to-do people. There may have been a few working-class folk, but there were no poor. A quiet and devotional atmosphere made itself felt; the great majority of the people seemed to be connected with the church, and a feature that impressed me a good deal both on this visit and on that paid on the following Wednesday was the number of good and happy faces around me. There was a fair propotion of men, perhaps 25 or 30 per cent.

For instrumentation, they had a piano, and the man seated at this played a quiet voluntary just before proceedings began.

There is no pulpit, but two ~~xxxxxxx~~ reading desks at either end of a raised platform were evidently to be occupied. Flowers and shrubs filled the intervening space, and at 11.30 a lady and gentleman walked in and took their seats on the two chairs on the platform. The ~~xxxx~~ latter was I afterwards discovered the "First Reader" of the Church and has been appointed from head-quarters at Boston. He is a Canadian, and ^{originally} either a barrister or solicitor by profession. The lady is the "second reader", and has been appointed by the congregation in London. Both are "healers". Both looked and behaved like quiet, thoughtful and sympathetic people. There was no sign of bounce, gush or noise. Neither was there are sign of originality, for the whole of the service is ~~prescribed~~ arranged, and may be described therefore as being perhaps the most liturgical in London. It opened with a hymn. A reading from the Bible followed, and then the Lord's Prayer was given "with its spiritual interpretation". The Second Reader led clause by clause, the people joining in, but the distinctive feature of the proceedings was found in the interpolation, also clause by a clause, of the "spiritual interpretation". This was read by the First Reader, presumably from Mrs. Eddy's writings, and formed a not uninteresting paraphrase, largely metaphysical in character, and, as far as it was ethical, wholesome. Before the Lord's Prayer, there was an interval for silent prayer. Another hymn and then, I think, came the Lesson which consisted ~~consisted~~ of six separate selections from the Bible, a few verses taken here and there forming each selection and all being read by the Second Reader. Each was followed by selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", read by the First Reader. This book is, of course, the great work of the Foundress, and is a vade mecum of the Scientists. I could not make much out of the selections read. A collection came in somewhere, and a hymn concluded the proceedings. At six o'clock on the same day, exactly the same order of service was to be repeated, and at all the churches of the sect throughout Christian Science-dom the same proceedings are followed.

I went on the following Wednesday evening, and was told that it would be well to come early, in order to secure a seat. It was the first day of the New Year, and doubtless many had social engagements, but, although not crowded, the hall was again full. (The Friday evening meetings have had to be started, because of the crush on Wednesdays). The First Reader officiated alone, and opened ~~with a hymn~~ by giving out a hymn. A reading followed, and then there was a five minutes' address, to wish us all a happy new year, and to explain the object of these ~~meetings~~ meetings, which was to spread the knowledge of Christian Science and to give opportunities for testimony. It was claimed that Christian Science was able to secure not only happiness --- a present heaven, but healing, and after a very were "remedies" in the ordinary sense of the word administered. There were two others who bore testimony, one a lady, youngish, who described her treatment of her sister, ~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ apparently a nervous subject and whose case had therefore no special significance, and then sat down, to rise again the next moment because she had remembered the following incident: "I should like" she said "to mention that a few days ago, I was making the tea with the rest of my family round me, when my foot slipped while I was holding the kettle, and the water came over my arm. I gave it treatment at once, and three minutes afterwards there was no sign of redness and there was no pain. In fact the water felt quite cold". She mentioned the fact that only one other member of the family circle so far has adopted Christian Science, but that all were greatly impressed by what happened, and she clearly had hopes that all would become Scientists. In some respects this little spontaneous recital was the most interesting testimony of all. The queer little remark "In fact the water seemed quite cold" of course suggests the reflexion that it perhaps was not really very hot, but as to the genuineness of the belief that owing to the "treatment", whatever that may have been, the ordinary sequence of physical cause and effect had been broken there can be no manner of ~~doubt~~ doubt. The remaining speaker, who had sandwiched himself in between some of the others, had an equally firm belief in the power of Christian Science, but his testimony, and his alone, moved to laughter, for he rose to tell us how he had been disturbed in the early hours of the morning by violent pains in the stomach, and how for two hours he had "struggled with mortal mind" in warding off a sharp diarrhoeic attack; how he had been tempted by doubtings as to the efficacy of his faith; "send for the doctor" said the tempting voice, or "Why not try a little brandy". But no; he stood firm, and at a quarter past eight took his accustomed place at the breakfast table, no one knowing of the two hours of wrestling through which he had gone.

Perhaps it is misleading to have ended this account by describing an incident that partakes of the ludicrous, for the proceedings as a whole gave a very different impression. I detected no charlatanism, and again the happiness and goodness of many of the faces impressed me. When all the testimonies were over, the Reader pointed no moral. Not a word. He just rose and gave out a closing hymn, which we sang, and then the people scattered.

Outdoor relief for Amos is

Remarks - 28

If I believe that the out-door relief from the Union is small compared with other districts in London.

In regard to crime the charges are mostly common assaults, drunk & disorderly. Not a district were thieves live, I cannot remember hearing of any arrests upon such charges as forgery, burglary etc.

Formerly certain parts of the parish contained a considerable number of disorderly houses but the Chelsea Vestry have been active in putting these down.

On the whole this is rather a district in which disorderly women live than were they solicit.

I am not aware that the people are less thrifty than most. The church encourages thrift, State clubs, Build, Societ etc.

~~The people marry as~~ The rents for a whole house would be say from £35-60 per annum. Nearly all are not let in tenement, 3 families in each house. Most families have some sort of sitting room not containing a bed. There are no large workmen's model dwellings. But several blocks of flats let in 6 sets of 3 rooms each rent about 7/- to 9/- weekly. The flats for middle class people are new & have not taken well.

Large part of parish south of Kings R working class, general labourers earning from 18/- to 30/- per week. North district, more skilled labourers earning say 40/- per week, city clerks & few professional men

b. The Sunday congregations are a fair sample of the population.

c. Staff 4 Clergy, 3 deaconesses, 1 Scripture

g. No church Day Schools.

h. Parish is covered by Magazine visitors,
The Clergy should visit round in about 18 months.

j. From last annual report Cash £2.10.
In kind £40, Maternity Society.

k. Free library, baths, Town Hall are distant about a mile from the parish. In the parish itself the church etc is the only influence of this description

l. Lackland Hall, under city missionary Soc., does a good deal of visiting in a small part of the parish Congregational chapel, appear to visit mostly their own people.

The relations ~~and~~ between the church workers & these are friendly.
But ~~the~~ cooperation is hardly possible since the former bodies do little social work among the people.

THE STREETS ARE COLOURED ACCORDING TO THE GENERAL CONDITION OF THE INHABITANTS, AS UNDER:—

 Lowest class. Vicious, semi-criminal.	 Very poor, casual. Chronic want.	 Poor. 18s. to 21s. a week for a moderate family.	 Mixed. Some comfortable, others poor.	 Fairly comfortable. Good ordinary earnings.	 Middle class. Well-to-do.	 Upper-middle and Upper classes. Wealthy.
---	---	--	--	--	---	---

A combination of colours—as dark blue and black, or pink and red—indicates that the street contains a fair proportion of each of the classes represented by the respective colours.
